

ORGANIZE TULSA NAVAL VETERANS

Dr. R. T. Brighton Here to Launch Organization of Local "Gobs."

FIRST POST IN STATE

Expect Large Chapter in City—U. S. Records Show Ex-Sailors Number 1,022.

A post of the naval veterans of America, composed of sailors, ex-sailors and naval reserves, is now being organized in Tulsa, it was stated yesterday by the committee in charge of organization, composed of J. J. Dixon of this city and Dr. Thomas H. Brighton, national organizer. Temporary quarters have been secured at room 4, 216½ South Boston, where applications for membership will be received.

The purpose of the naval veterans of America is identical with that of similar organizations, such as the American Legion, the exception being that only men who have seen naval service will be accepted into membership, according to Doctor Brighton. The organization has come into being since the close of the war and posts are now being established in different parts of the country. Tulsa is the first city in Oklahoma in which a post has been placed.

Doctor Brighton stated that a large membership was expected in the Tulsa post as government records show that there are 1,022 ex-sailors here. "It is surprising to know how the ex-sailors have rallied to the cause and are joining in numbers," he said.

Doctor Brighton will remain here about a month. He arrived recently from St. Louis, where there is a post with 1200 members. The national headquarters of the naval veterans of America is at St. Louis, the officers being Captain Layton, commander, and Paul Werner, paymaster. The largest posts are located at St. Louis, Chicago and New York City. Plans for a membership campaign for the proposed local post will be presented to the chamber of commerce Friday.

Re-elect Officers.
Re-election of all officers of the associated music teachers of Tulsa took place at the annual meeting and luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday noon. The officers are: John Knowles Weaver, president; H. J. Spindler, vice president; and Margaret Ringgold, secretary and treasurer.

ORR IS PRESIDENT TULSA ILLINI CLUB

Illinois University Men Complete Organization Here Last Night.

Twenty university of Illinois men met in the private dining room of the Kennedy restaurant last night and completed the organization of a Tulsa Illini club. The local organization will be one of a chain of clubs extending throughout the United States, uniting former students of the university.

The next meeting will be held June 2, at which time the attendance will be augmented by the return of several men and women now attending the school. There are about 50 former students in Tulsa eligible to membership. Anyone who attended the university at any time will be asked to become a member. Women are to be included.

The following officers were elected last night: Harold J. Orr, president; Claude H. Huppard, secretary; George G. Huppard, secretary-treasurer. A membership committee consisting of Dr. Charles K. Francis, chairman, I. L. Ratcliffe and Donovan Mann was appointed. Illinois men or women who wish to affiliate with the club can do so by notifying the secretary at Geage 5200, oil department.

Attends Schools.
MRS. MINNETTE HEDGER, county superintendent of schools, who has been visiting the concluding school exercises in different grade schools throughout Tulsa county during the week, will be present at the exercises in Jenks this evening and at the Fisher school Friday evening.
